

8.5.2. Hydrodynamic noise

Noise with liquid fluids is caused by:

- Turbulent flow and pressure fluctuation as are common in industrial plants,
- The main cause of hydrodynamic noise is cavitation, a pattern similar to the noise when small steel balls rattle onto a steel sheet.